Executive Highlights & Core Takeaways

Classic Category Rules Volume & Revenue

Classic pizzas generated 30.03% of total units (14,888 pizzas) and $220,050 in revenue. However, its AOV is the lowest at $20.26, suggesting an opportunity for premium upsells.

Chicken & Supreme Drive Premium Basket Size

Chicken ($22.95 AOV) and Supreme ($22.92 AOV) produce the highest ticket sizes. Marketing campaigns should steer buyers toward these high-margin categories.

Friday Surges vs. Sunday Slumps

Friday is the undisputed peak (3,538 orders) across all categories, while Sunday lags at 2,624 orders (a 26% gap). Kitchen staffing and weekend supply chains must reflect this rhythm.

Large Sizes Dominate All Categories

Large pizzas account for over 50% of sales in Chicken and Veggie, and 45% + in Supreme. XL/XXL sizes are unique to Classic but remain negligible (<7%).

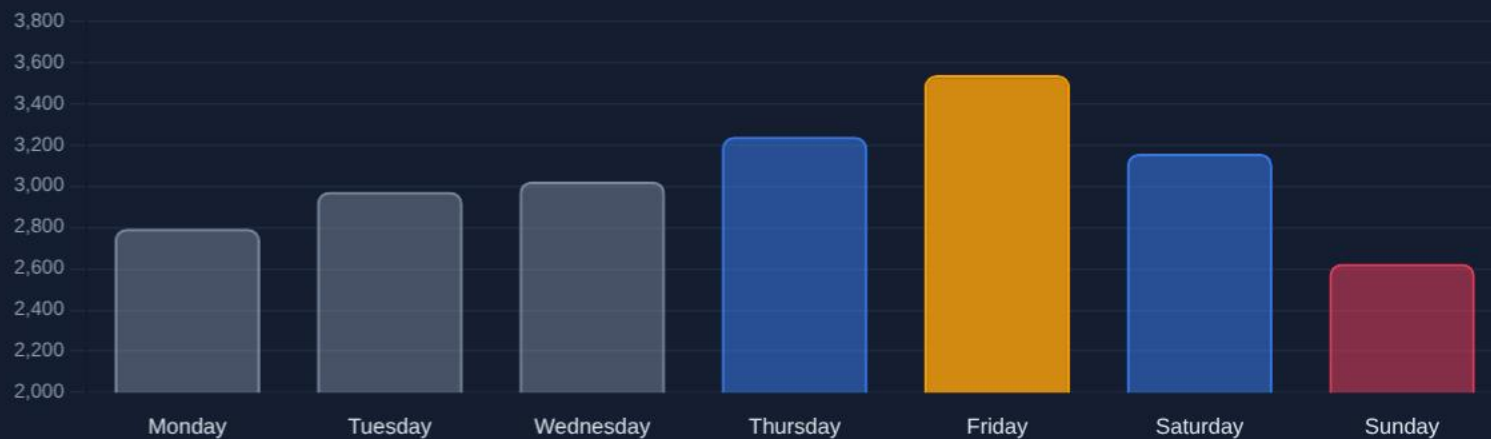

Full-Year 2015 KPI Scorecard

Core operating metrics derived from SQL Queries 1 to 5.

Orders by Day of Week: The Friday Peak

Demand builds from Monday through Thursday, crests on Friday, and bottoms out on Sunday.

🔥 PEAK DAY: FRIDAY

3,538 Orders

Represents 16.6% of weekly orders. Highest demand across all 4 categories simultaneously.

🌙 LOWEST DAY: SUNDAY

2,624 Orders

25.8% drop from Friday. Prime target for family combo bundles & football promotions.

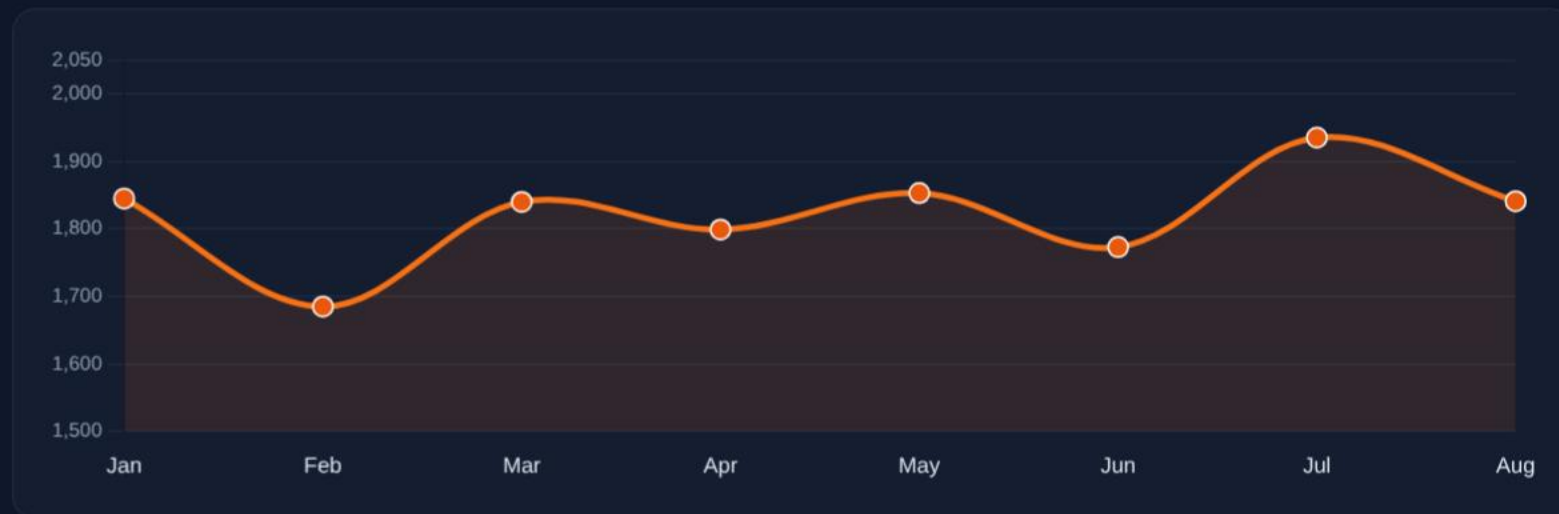

Thursday Volume: 3,239 orders

Saturday Volume: 3,158 orders

💡 Operational recommendation: Align kitchen prep shifts and delivery drivers to maximum surge capacity between 5 PM - 9 PM on Fridays.

Monthly Demand Trend (Jan – Aug 2015)

Sales volume operates within a remarkably stable band between 1,685 and 1,935 monthly orders.

JULY (PEAK MONTH)

1,935

Summer vacations and warm weather drive highest consumer demand.

FEBRUARY (TROUGH MONTH)

1,685

Shortest month of the year; annualized velocity remains consistent (~60.1/day).

Monthly Stability Index: Variance between peak and trough is only 14.8%, highlighting predictable cash flow and inventory turnover.

Pizza Category Performance Comparison

Volume share vs. Total Revenue vs. Average Order Value across the 4 key categories.

CATEGORY	PIZZAS SOLD	SHARE (%)	REVENUE	AOV ($)	ORDERS
● Classic	14,888	30.03%	$220,050	$20.26	10,859
● Supreme	11,987	24.18%	$208,200	$22.92	9,085
● Veggie	11,649	23.50%	$193,690	$21.66	8,941
● Chicken	11,050	22.29%	$195,920	$22.95	8,536

⚠ The Classic Paradox: Classic delivers the lion's share of volume and revenue, but has the lowest ticket size ($20.26). Increasing Classic AOV by just $1.50 through drink or side pairings would inject +$16.2K straight to EBITDA.

*Total pizzas sold across categories sum to exactly 49,574 units (100.0%).

TOP REVENUE EARNER

The Thai Chicken Pizza

Consistently claims the highest dollar revenue among all 32 menu varieties. Its premium price point and popularity make it our most valuable revenue generator.

Category: Chicken

TOP VOLUME & ORDERS

The Classic Deluxe Pizza

Sells the absolute most units and appears across more individual customer orders than any other item on the menu. The anchor staple for repeat visits.

Category: Classic

WEAKEST PERFORMER

The Brie Carre Pizza

Ranks bottom across all 3 key dimensions: lowest revenue, fewest total pizzas sold, and least order frequency. Carries high spoilage risk on specialty cheese.

Recommendation: Phase out / Replace

2016 Strategic Growth Roadmap

Key initiatives to capture identified margin expansion and capacity opportunities.

01

Menu Pruning & SKU Optimization

De-list The Brie Carre to eliminate specialty inventory waste. Double down on Thai Chicken marketing & test limited-time spicy poultry specials.

02

Lift the "Sunday Slump"

Launch targeted Sunday "Family Feast" bundles (2 Large Pizzas + Sides + Drinks) to close the 914-order delta between Sunday and Friday.

03

Classic Category Upselling

Incentivize Classic Deluxe buyers with automated POS prompts for dipping sauces, beverages, or upgrading to Supreme recipes to lift the $20.26 category AOV.

04

Friday Kitchen Logistics

Standardize prep routines for 14-inch Large doughs to handle Friday dinner surges (3,538 orders/year), cutting order-to-delivery times by ~15%.

✓ Target 2016 Objective: Surpass $900K revenue milestone with sustained >$40.00 AOV.
